Hello, Dearies!

Congratulations! You've made it to the Final Exam of the Gruntilla's School of Psychicness Correspondence Course. Soon you shall be a certified work-from-home psychic. I'm so proud of you!

As you may well know (and you should after 5 weeks!), a lot about being a psychic is the ability to extract the secret, hidden meanings and messages from your surroundings. There are answers or clues all around us. With that in mind, I went around the city for a week, blindly picking up random items as well as picking up on the vibrations that the mundane world has to tell us about this crime. Oh, didn't I tell you? Your final exam is to find The Back Bay Butcher (well, at least identify him). I'm sure you've heard on the news how the police have been stumped trying to make heads or tails of this mystery. So naturally, they turn to us of The Third Eye, those who can see where they are blinded by the worldly. (It's a burden, really.)

What you will do is hang out in the Prudential Mall area and sift through the items I picked up last week. The Pru is key for this paranormal investigation if only because most of his victims have turned up there, in some capacity. Now don't forget - you are psychics! Whether or not you pass this exam you have definitely developed your talents in using the Tarot, Object Reading, Palmistry, Past Life Recollection, Tea Leaves Reading, Crystal Ball Reading, and the Ouija Board. If you feel a little apprehensive about using your newfound talents, just talk to my assistant and he'll give you pointers.

Oh! Speaking of which.. I sent some email last week that I foresaw would be delayed. You obviously didn't get them yet. They will be arriving shortly. My assistant will disburse them as they come.

Good luck, my dearies! You all will do divinely!

Blessings,

Mme. Z.!
